Osteopathic education is the primary mission of PCOM. Your success is our success. We will follow your careers with interest and count on your support to strengthen the college in the future.

We believe our aim in osteopathic medical education is on target. The patient is the focus of attention rather than technology. Medical care involves maintaining health as well as reversing pathology. The musculoskeletal system has a great deal to tell the physician and can be used as an effective therapeutic conduit.

Thank you for sharing four years of yourself with us. Bring the unique viewpoint and understandings of osteopathic medicine to your practice.

You are fully a part of the PCOM tradition now and we are proud of you.

DIDACTIC YEARS

The Osteopathic Medical Center of Philadelphia

Philadelphia College of Osteopathic Medicine

August 24, 1983

Ms. Linda M. Malmrose
3 John Circle
Norwood, NJ 07648

Dear Ms. Malmrose:

I am pleased to inform you that your application for admission to Philadelphia College of Osteopathic Medicine for the class entering in August 1983 has been favorably acted upon by the Faculty Committee on Admissions. Congratulations upon your acceptance.

You have now taken the first step of your career in osteopathic medicine and have therefore assumed certain responsibilities. Your personal and professional life must reflect the highest standards of moral integrity and professional dedication. In addition, your immediate responsibility is that of maintaining a high level of academic accomplishment. Should you, for whatever reason, fail to maintain high standards in all areas, your acceptance will be automatically withdrawn.

Please telephone this office or come in as soon as you receive this letter to confirm your place in the class. Orientation and Registration will be Thursday, August 25 at 9:30 am. Full information is being sent under separate cover.

You are now about to prepare yourself for a career of public service and public trust as an osteopathic physician, a career which will afford you great satisfaction. Again, our congratulations to you. We look forward to welcoming you in August.

Very truly yours,

Carol A. Fox
Director of Admissions and Student Affairs

Four years have passed since we entered PCOM as the class of '87. As early as orientation we began to organize ourselves with our note service and temporary chairmen who would help us acclimate to the demands of classroom life. We learned early that as a group we could accomplish more, prompting many of us to volunteer for projects, reviews, and student council representation to make our individual workloads more bearable. To all of you I say thank you for a job well done.

As a class we made some significant contributions. Rather than utilizing short-term answers to problems, we often sought and implemented long-term solutions in areas like the note service and reviews to insure ongoing services for those who follow us.

As we entered our clinical years, the importance of a team approach again became apparent in caring for the sick and injured. While we continued to learn medicine, we also touched on the realities, benefits, and limitations of medical care. The was also a time to get to know classmates whose last names did not fall close to ours in the alphabet.

I want to thank you for the priveledge of being Class Chairman. Our four years have been filled with ever-changing emotions of happiness, sadness, frustration, and even some triumphs. My goal has been to do the most good for the largest number of people, to offend no one, and to attempt to ease our student life along the way.

In closing, let me recall Norman Cousin's words given to us at the beginning of our careers:

"All ye who enter here, pause and remember that you are entering a profession that depends on your understanding of human compassion."

Best wishes in your future endeavors.

It is difficult to express my gratitude and appreciation to the many people who helped to make my dreams become a reality . . .

To my parents . . . I thank you for your endless support both financially and morally and for loving me through all the good times and helping me overcome the obstacles that blocked my path.

To my grandparents . . . you are truly selfless and giving, and I'm very proud to be your granddaughter.

To my sisters . . . you will always be my best friends.

To my cousin Stan . . . for being the big brother I never had and for being a God-sent gift in my life.

And finally to ALL my friends, both my old high school buddies, who know how much they mean to me, as well as those who have become close to my heart over the past four years, I couldn't have done it without your love, concern, optimism and kindness, not to mention an occasional happy hour or quick weekend jaunt to a "far off land."

I love you all and though my career may take me a thousand miles away from you, my heart will always be right next door.

THE ROCKIN' RADIOLOGIST

(Written with music for Group II Radiology, October, 1985)

There's a rockin' radiologist on City Line Avenue.
Trained by Dr. Meals, she knows just what t do.
(CHORUS)

She's the rockin' radiologist
of City Line Avenue.
Trained by Dr. Meals,
she knows just what to do.

She put the rock in cranio-sacral,
the RAD in radiate,
She made Hounsfield bark
when she gave him opaque!
(CHORUS)

She's the rockin' radiologist
of City Line Avenue,
Trained by Dr. Meals,
she knows just what to do.

Well, she walked into my office and my scanner went berserk, so I used my conferenceology and said,
"Let's meet after work."

She'll attenuate your function,
make your badge glow,
redirect your beam to a high frequency flow.
(CHORUS)

She's the rockin' radiologist
of City Line Avenue.
Trained by Dr. Meals,
she knows just what to,
Trained by Dr. Meals,
she knows just what to,
Trained by Dr. Meals, she knows . . .
Just what to do.

I'd like to dedicate this page to all of my family and friends who have supported me in this endeavor, especially to Perry, my husband, who has unselfishly been the mainstay of my emotional strength throughout the past 6 years.

A ruddy drop of manly blood
The surging sea outweighs,
The world uncertain comes and goes,
The Lover rooted stays.
I fancies he was fled, -
And, after many a year,
Glowed unexhausted kindliness,
Like daily sunrise there.
My careful heart was free again,
O friend, my bosom said,
Through thee alone the sky is arched,
Through thee the rose is red;
All things through thee take nobler form,
And look beyond the earth,
The mill-round of our fate appears
A sun-path in thy worth.
Me too thy nobleness has taught
To master my despair;
The fountains of my hidden life
Are through thy friendship fair.

To laugh often and much; to win the respect of intelligent people and the affection of children; to earn the appreciation of honest critics and endure the betrayal of false friends; to appreciate beauty; to find the best in others; to leave the world a bit better, whether by a healthy child, a garden patch or a redeemed social condition; to know even one life has breathed easier because you lived. IT COULDN'T BE DONE

Somebody said that it couldn't be done,
  But he with a chuckle replied
That "maybe it couldn't," but he would be one
  Who wouldn't say so till he'd tried.
So he buckled right in with the trace of a grin
  On his face. If he worried he hid it.
He started to sing as he tackled the thing
  That couldn't be done, and he did it.

Somebody scoffed: "Oh, you'll never do that:
  At least no one ever has done it;"
But he took off his coat and he took off his hat,
  And the first thing we know he'd begun it.
With a lift of his chin and a bit of a grin,
  Without any doubting or quiddit,
He started to sing as he tackled the thing
  That couldn't be done, and he did it.

There are thousands to tell you it cannot be done,
  There are thousands to prophesy failure;
There are thousands to point out to you, one by one,
  The dangers that wait to assail you.
But just buckle in with a bit of a grin,
  Just take off your coat and go to it;
Just start to sing as you tackle the thing
  That "cannot be done," and you'll do it.

Who is an essential part of your world;
Someone who helped to show the way
Someone who provided so much, so that you could become the person you are today?
What can you say to let them know

"It must be borne in mind that the tragedy of life doesn't lie in not reaching your goal. The tragedy lies in having no goal to reach. It isn't a calamity to die with dreams unfulfilled, but it is a calamity not to dream. It is not a disaster to be unable to capture your ideal, but it is a disaster to have no ideal to capture. It is not a disgrace not to reach the stars, but it is a disgrace to have no stars to reach for. Not failure, but low aim is sin."

It has been a long road, but not nearly so difficult thanks to the never ending support of my family. A special thanks to my mom and dad for always being there when I needed them, to my brother Mike for keeping me smiling, to my friends for keeping me sane, and to my study partners (Jeff and Jim) for getting me through the miles of academia.

I'd also like to thank Chris, Anne, Deb, Dan, Jack, Mike G, Paul and my "furry friends" Spanky, Fluff, et al for being behind me all the way.

Without you MOM and DAD, my life's goal of becoming a doctor would have never been possible.

Thanks to everyone who inspired me in my endeavors -

- Mom and Leah for being there, offering sensible advice, and making sure I got to my rotations when my car did not - I love you.
- My friends in PA and AZ - for their continual encouragement and support.
- Lois, Dick, and Vickie for helping me to enjoy the lighter side of medicine and for being such good friends to me.
- my dad and grandmom - for showing me that anything is possible and not to give up on your dreams
- Jack - for your sweetness - I love you.
- Moni - for always being there for me my whole life through
- But mostly to MUFFIN. You're the most loving, affectionate, and fluffy friend a person could want. I did it all for you.

The Prayer of St. Ephrem

O Lord and Master of my life! Take from me the spirit of sloth, despair, lust of power and idle talk. But give me rather the spirit of chastity, humility, patience and love to Thy servant. Yea, O Lord and King! Grant me to see my own transgressions and not to judge my brother, for blessed art Thou, unto ages of ages.

Consider the lilies how they grow: they toil not, they spin not; and yet I say unto you, that Solomon in all his glory was not arrayed like one of these.

If then God so clothe the grass, which is today in the field, and tomorrow is cast into the oven; how much more will he clothe you, O ye of little faith?

And seek not ye what ye shall eat, or what ye shall drink, neither be ye of doubtful mind.

For all these things do the nations of the world seek after: and your Father knoweth that ye have need of these things.

But rather seek ye the kingdom of God; and all these things shall be added unto you.

LESSON

They said "you'll never make it",
And they thought that they were right,
But I kept on plodding onward,
Because I hoped I might.
And they shook their heads in wonder,
That I lacked the sense to quit,
But I held my chin up higher,
And I didn't mind a bit.

They said "you'll never make it",
As the problems multiplied,
But I had to make an effort,
And to know at least I tried.
So I dug my heels in deeper,
Though sometimes my spirits lagged,
And I shouldered what was lightest,
And the rest I sort of dragged.

And I found to my amazement,
At the ending of the day,
That what they said I couldn't,
I had managed anyway.
It only took three little words,
"Lord help me", and I rid Myself of doubt, and all they said
I'd never do . . . I did.

A PHYSICIAN'S PRAYER

Lord, Thou Great Physician, I kneel before Thee. Since every good and perfect gift must come from Thee, I pray: Give skill to my hand, clear vision to my mind, kindness and sympathy to my heart. Give me singleness of purpose, strength to lift at least a part of the burden of my suffering fellowmen, and a true realization of the rare privilege that is mine. Take from my heart all guile and worldliness, that with the simple faith of a child I may rely on Thee. Amen.

Thank you PCOM for the privilege and education.

Praise God for my family and my brothers and sisters in Christ whom God so wonderfully used to help bring this to pass. Most of all I thank God for His faithfulness and for His great love demonstrated thru the sacrificial death and victorious resurrection of my Lord and Saviour, Jesus Christ.

But seek ye first the kingdom of God, and his righteousness: and all these things shall be added unto you. Matthew 6:33 (KJV)

QUOTES

Once you have ruled out the impossible, whatever else remains no matter how improbable, must be the truth. -Sherlock Holmes

It could be worse, it could be raining. -Young Frankenstein

Just remember, where ever you go - there you are!

The 10 (or so) Commandments of Osteopathy:

- -I am the D.O. - thou shalt have no other degrees before me
- -Honor thy attending and thy resident
- -Remember thy day off - to keep it holy
- -Thou shalt do no harm
- -Thou shalt not sleep through lecture
- -Thou shalt not make thy intern look bad
- -Thou shalt not let thy beeper ring more than 3 times before answering
- -Forgive the nurses, for they know not what they do
- -Thou shalt always document, document, document
- -Thou shalt not forget the trials and tribulation of being a medical student
- -Thou shalt not trust financial aid
- -Thou shalt not dump
- -Thou shalt not covet thy neighbor's residency slot
- -Thou shalt always use 2 hands to catch a baby
- -Thou shalt not say "OOPS!"

I cannot adequately express the depth of the love and gratitude I feel for my family and friends who have walked beside me on a road that was many times dark and rocky. Your unwavering belief in me has sustained me when I had so many doubts. The lessons you have taught supercede all the volumes I could ever read; that is, to be gentle and kind, to strive to be the very best yet maintain one's humility. My hope is that I will be a physician of whom you can be proud.

May I say that I have loved me one or two
Of the people in my past
Fading faces in a waking dream
And though they never seemed to last very long
There are faces I remember
From the places in my past
I said all the dead head miles
And the insincere smiles
Sometimes I can laugh and cry
And I can't remember why
But I still love those good times gone by

It is hard for me to believe that Paul Moscato is dead. Paul was one of the first persons I met at P.C.O.M. One day in the first week of freshman year, Paul and I happened to be walking out into the parking lot together just after dark and got to talking. We sat down on the asphalt, split a pack of Tastykakes he had with him and talked for several hours about our lives, our plans, our fears, our hopes, and our dreams.

Paul was like that. He was someone who always warmed you with his smile, cheered you up with his jokes, but above all he was someone who you could really talk to. He was my classmate, my lab partner, and my very close friend. I miss him dearly.

Paul was a small town boy and this was a large part of his identity. When he came to Philadelphia he brought alot of the small town with him. Those who knew Paul can easily recall the countlesss stories he'd tell about his home town, Emporium, PA, or the tales about his aunt who would always cook too much food so that Paul could take the leftovers back to Philadelphia and keep his cupboard well stocked, or of his latest trip home for the weekend, or how he had helped one of his family members with a new technique he had learned in O.P.P.

Paul never intended to stay in the city, but he took good advantage of the time that he spent here. Paul was always open to new experiences. He liked to go out to eat and sample our city's local delicacies, or to go downtown and watch the ebb and flow of the people.

One day I talked Paul into renting a wet suit and going down to the shore with me to go body surfing. I didn't realize beforehand that he wasn't that great a swimmer, and I was afraid that he might drown in the surf. He didn't, but he found that he liked the ocean and took up scuba diving. That was Paul. He could be an adventuresome soul.

I realize that words can at best fall short of being able to express the tragedy of Paul's death, or the memories we hold of Paul's life. Paul wanted to return to Emporium to help those who helped him while he was growing up. Paul wanted to return home to give of himself to those who helped him get his start in life. This was a most noble goal.

We all mourn the death of Paul Moscato. It is my hope that part of him will always live on in the lives of those he touched while he was with us.

Philadelphia College of Osteopathic Medicine

Dear Parent of the Graduate,

The PCOM yearbook staff extends commencement congratulations to you! The love and support to your 1987 Osteopathic physician are virtues that will be also celebrated on May 31, 1987.

"Synapsis - 1987" is the title of the annual PCOM yearbook produced by the Class of 1987. "Synapsis - 1987" is a non-profit endeavor which pays appropriate tribute to both our graduation class and our institution. The PCOM student body provide financial support through their tuition/ yearbook fee. The remaining deficit is entirely funded by generous donations from Parents, Faculty, Alumni, and Friends of PCOM. The "Synapsis - 1987" staff hopes to raise approximately $15,000.00 to meet its prospective production needs.

If you would like to take part in "Synapsis - 1987" please fill out the form below. Your name, congratulatory message, business logo, or advertisment are welcome. Please enclose your printed or typed message, logo, advertisment, or photographs (black & white are preferred), as you would like it to appear. Send your check or money order to: "Synapsis - 87", c/o PCOM, 4150 City Ave., Phila., Pa., 19131. All patrons are due by 1/31/87. Please add a separate sheet for any additional patrons you may wish to purchase.

Thank you for your continued support. We look forward to celebrating with you on May 31st!

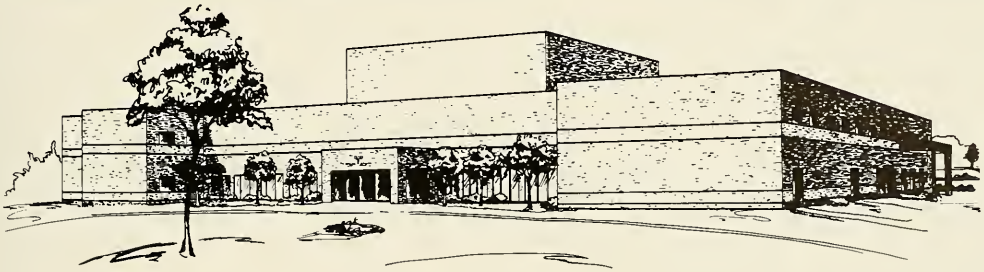
COCH Clarion Osteopathic Community Hospital



OFFERING QUALITY FAMILY-CENTERED HEALTH CARE
IN WESTERN PENNSYLVANIA

If you're seeking the fresh air, unspoiled beauty and hospitality of a rural community, yet enjoy the high-energy attractions and accessibility of a large city, then consider a career at Clarion Osteopathic Community Hospital. Our new 96-bed, acute care facility is located along Interstate 80, between Pittsburgh and Erie.

Clarion Osteopathic Community Hospital continues to grow as the primary source of family-centered health care in Clarion County. Our facility consists of a full range of services including obstetrics, pathology laboratory and nuclear medicine, cardiopulmonary, physical therapy, ICCU, 24-hour emergency services, radiology complete with computerized axial tomography. Surgicare and other outpatient services.

We are AOA approved for Intern and Extern training and can offer excellent practice opportunities for family practice and specialist physicians. For more information about Clarion Osteopathic Community Hospital's education programs or about how we can assist you in establishing your practice in the county, contact Angelo E. Amadio, D.O., Director of Medical Education.

Still growing, after all these years

After over 40 years of teaching and healing, Botsford General Hospital is a seasoned, established osteopathic institution. We've earned our reputation as a leading community-based teaching hospital, and our place as the fourth largest osteopathic institution in the nation.

But we're still young at heart.

We're still expanding, adding new facilities, beds, even a new wing. We're still sponsoring new programs, like our Physician's Referral Network for private and staff physicians. We're still launching some of the finest DO's into the profession, in 16 different medical specialties.

After over 40 years, we're still experiencing the energy and optimism of youth. And, we don't intend to change.
